

Library @ Your User: A Case Study Using New Technologies to Extend the Reach of the Library

APLIC-I Annual Conference

March 28, 2006

Tara Murray
Information Core Director
murray@pop.psu.edu

Kiet Bang
Library Assistant
bang@pop.psu.edu

Jennifer Darragh
Data Archivist
darragh@pop.psu.edu

Population Research Institute
The Pennsylvania State University

Helpful Links

PRI home page
<http://www.pop.psu.edu>

PRI Library blog (beta)
<http://info.pop.psu.edu/>

Examples of blog use by libraries:

University of Wisconsin Center for Demography and Ecology: Current Demographic Research Reports (CDERR)
<http://www.ssc.wisc.edu/cde/library/cderr/subscribe.htm>
[Not really a blog]

Georgia State University Libraries' Library News and Subject Blogs
<http://www.library.gsu.edu/news/>

Ann Arbor District Library
<http://www.aadl.org/>

Blogging libraries
<http://blogwithoutalibrary.net/links/>

Blogging Software

Red Alt Blog Software Breakdown
<http://redalt.com/wiki/Blog+Software+Breakdown>

RSS (Really Simple Syndication)

The latest info - tailor-made for you

Christian Science Monitor, January 19, 2006

<http://www.csmonitor.com/2006/0119/p13s02-stct.html>

Wikipedia entry on RSS

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/RSS_%28file_format%29

Wikipedia list of news aggregators

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/List_of_news_aggregators